Preparing for High Holy Days

It has been an exciting summer at Bet Shira Congregation. We had a great panel on the Pew Report, an awesome Camp Kef with a Jammies and Jeans Shabbat featuring Mr. Mason in the middle of it, and a community rally against antisemitism. We eagerly anticipate the start of our Preschool and of our Jewish Learning Center, welcoming Mandy Pavuk back to Bet Shira as our JLC Coordinator. Now we are gearing up for Welcome Back Weekend on August 21-23, which will have a Family Service, music by Cantorial Soloist Sharon Alcalay-Leibovici, Musical Director Alan Mason and Cantor Andres Levy, a Dueling Pianos event Saturday night and Kosher Food Trucks on Sunday morning. We can't wait for the High Holy Days featuring Sharon and Alan Mason, a prerecorded Family Service led by Mr. Mason and myself, and Tashlich in the backyard of Marcelo and Mirta Laufer. We are also excited for our 36th Anniversary Celebration honoring on November 5-6 Rabbi David Auerbach z"l, Aileen Lafont, our founding members, and those who contributed to our campaign. Every Shabbat I have been using a teaching from Rabbi Auerbach to help prepare us for this special weekend.

In Hebrew, the High Holidays are called hayamim hanoraim, which is often translated as Days of Awe. The word "awe" indicates our amazement upon acknowledging the wonders that God created. We reflect on how great it is to be alive, healthy, immersed in nature and seeing beauty. God's moral laws themselves promote a society where people can cooperate with one another and live a more peaceful and congenial life. When these laws are violated, tragedy and destruction of lives occur, both personally and communally.

Which of us would not question some of our own actions in our relationships to others? How would God see us in light of our shortcomings? A beautiful Midrash from Pesikta Rabbati gives insight into these questions. The Midrash describes a prince who was a hundred days journey away from his father, the king. The prince had distanced himself because he felt that some of the choices he had made offended his father and believed that his father would never forgive him. The prince's friends implored him to return to his father, but the prince was fearful, as his life was far removed from his father's expectations. "I cannot return," the prince said, "as I do not have the strength to face my father." The prince's father sent word to him saying "come back as far as you are able, and I will go the rest of the way to meet you."

In this parable, the prince represents the children of Israel, and the father represents God. Our Sages suggest that we, the children of Israel, might be hesitant of returning to God, especially if we have committed some major sins in the past year. However, God comforts us by telling us that we should do as much as we can to come back, and God will go the rest of the way to meet us. This is the essence of teshuvah, returning to God, and it demonstrates that God is striving to reach us as much as we are attempting to return to God and to higher moral principles.

As we approach the High Holidays, I hope that we will be mindful of the opportunities presented to sincerely return to God and to be in awe of the world in which we live. Awe is often thought of as appreciation of monumental wonders, but it is also sharing holidays with old friends and connecting with close family, even though it may be geographically distant. May the upcoming High Holidays be a time of both reflection on our past year and striving to connect in a deep and meaningful way, both to God and to each other. Karina, Ariela, Leora and I wish you a shana tova u'metuka, a happy, healthy and sweet New Year.

A Message from the President

Although I appeared on this page once as President-Elect, filling in for Jason when he was away, this is my first opportunity to address you as President of Bet Shira. Many of you heard my remarks when I was installed as President during our Congregational Meeting on June 30. For those of you who may not have had the opportunity to join us for that meeting, I thought it would be appropriate to present those remarks here.

When I walked through the doors of Bet Shira for the first time in 1991, the idea that I would be the President of Bet Shira seemed totally preposterous. That's not a very profound statement, since no one entering a brand new place would have an expectation of ascending to its top leadership position.

When I was put on the Board of Directors for the first time in 2008, the idea that I would become President still seemed just as preposterous. Again, that's not an especially profound statement. Someone just starting service on a Board would not reasonably have that expectation.

Four years ago, when I asked to assume the role of Ritual Vice President, I assumed that it would be my terminal position. The only question in my mind is whether I would serve a single term or whether I would be asked to return for a second term when I hit the prescribed limit and became 'termed out'. However, in spite of all that, one never knows what twists and turns await us and here I am as your President.

I am honored that you have put your faith and trust in me to serve in this role, and I will work hard over the next two years to justify your trust. We are facing difficult and challenging times. You have heard the reports about our financial condition. We cannot continue with the status quo that we have grown comfortable with. This situation is not one that is limited to Bet Shira. It is something that faces all of Conservative Judaism, as well as synagogues and churches in general, as fewer people choose to affiliate with religious institutions. We will have hard choices to make, but if we commit ourselves to securing our future, we can position ourselves for success and have a thriving and vibrant congregation.

I have many people to thank as I have evolved from a newcomer walking in the door 30 years ago, not knowing a single person, to where I am now. There are all of the congregants, Officers, Board members, Congregational Trustees, Endowment Trustees and Past Presidents who have given me valuable input. While singling out individuals always carries the risk of leaving someone else feeling slighted, there are a couple of people I would like to acknowledge. Linda Truppman nominated me for Ritual Vice President, appointed me to chair the Rabbinical search committee and softened me up to be receptive when Jason approached me about the President-Elect position. Without her, I wouldn't be here, so I'm not sure whether to thank her or blame her! Although we had served together on the Board for a few years, I didn't know Jason Timmons very well when he approached me about the President-Elect position. Over the past two years however, we have worked hand-in-hand through trying circumstances. As I have come to know him, I have admired the work he has done for Bet Shira and we have truly become friends. In his new role as Past President, I will continue to rely on his advice.

I look forward to working together with our incoming Officers, Directors, clergy and staff to sustain Bet Shira as the home of Conservative Judaism in South Dade. I look forward to working with Rabbi Herman. When I chaired the search committee two years ago, we all felt that he is the spiritual leader to guide us into the future. Two years later I believe that more than ever. I also look forward to working with our Executive Director, Chelsea Rego. Chelsea has been here a little more than a year, but in that short time, she has shown how valuable she is to us, as she performs her duties like a seasoned veteran. I welcome your input as we move forward together. I wish you all a happy and healthy 5782.

The Four Yom Kippurs

Yom Kippur 1927 in Miami was a hot tropical city as you would expect. You needed a fan for sitting in synagogue. Dinners were planned. Breakfasts were arranged. New shirts. New shoes. Remembering how to tie a tie. The synagogues were all freshly painted. Everything smelled fresh. The Miami Jewish community was ready for Kol Nidre. Ready for Neilah and that final shofar sounding. The Roaring Twenties were over for Miami. They ended when the 1926 the hurricane roared into town. Hurricane winds were the 1926 Tekiah. 1927 Yom Kippur was new way to begin for the Miami Jewish Community. The real estate bust was here. The great recession was around the corner. But for today a new slate and new hope.

Yom Kippur 1993. Once again everything was new. The air conditioning was the wrong temperature for everyone. It was either too warm or too cold. You could still smell the fresh paint. Friends and members were scattered. Some in campers. Some in hotels. Some in Broward County. But for this one day we were home together. Being scattered was only a physical thing. Our hearts were together.

Yom Kippur 2020. Yom Kippur in shorts at home. iPad. PC. Cellphone. Smart TV. Tech comes to Judaism. Prerecorded Aliyahs. Voices from around the Americas. Contactless Mahzor pickup. Shopping for masks. Fear and confusion marked this Yom Kippur

Yom Kippur 2021. This past year was a time that reminded us of who by fire, who by water, who by illness. Some vaccinated, some at home, but all of us careful. We all are looking forward to being crowded once again.

Four Yom Kippurs that serve to show that we recover. Four Yom Kippurs. We can be wounded. We can remember but still feel assured that our strength is in our recovery. Maybe we will see one another in the coming weeks, but we will be together in the coming months.

Wishing everyone a brighter and a sweeter New Year.

PRESIDENTELECT @BETSHIRA.ORG

I am honored to serve as President - Elect of Bet Shira Congregation! As we celebrate our 36th Year Anniversary, I am excited to play a part in writing the next chapter. To me, Bet Shira is more than a place of worship, it is our community and has been my family's Jewish home for almost 30 years. Bet Shira is where our daughters were given their Hebrew names, attended Preschool and Kindergarten, and had their Bat Mitzvahs. It is where Debby and I have and continue to make lifelong friendships. In the tradition of "L'dor V'Dor," I want to ensure that our community continues to grow and thrive into the future. In that regard, I am asking for your help! Please take the time to reach out to me and let me know your thoughts and suggestions. What are we doing right? How can we improve? What services or programming would you like to see? I look forward to hearing from you!

CREGO@BETSHIRA.ORG

This new year I reflect. I began to take note on what I am thankful for, especially during the last eighteen months. Of course, I am thankful for my family's health, my health, and being surrounded by those I love. As my thoughts began to wander, I realized I have so much more to be thankful for in my role as Executive Director.

When I first started I instantly took notice to the dedicated members of the congregation. I was surprised to see members spending over twenty hours a week working on programming, grants, legal matters, financials, and much more. The love our members have for Bet Shira goes beyond any non-profit I have worked at over the years. They volunteer their time, purchase items for events and marketing, and donate their earnings. It is their commitment to preserving Conservative Judaism in South Florida that provides me hope for Bet Shira's future.

As I continued reflecting, I could not help but be thankful for my staff. Every morning Mary Ann, through her mask, walks in with a smile, ready to greet me and all those who call and walk in with questions, concerns, or just good conversation. I am thankful that she continues her positive attitude through the tough times and welcomes change with open arms. It is the cutest when I bribe Xavier with hanging out with Mary Ann in order to go to class on the other side of campus. Daily I look forward to Michelle's creative ideas, fun tag lines, and patience as she is constantly being pulled in all directions throughout the day. With a calm voice she takes phone calls from the preschool, the asks from members, and the everyday synagogue happenings. I am thankful she is part of the family.

Avron never fails to put a smile on my face and I know many others. Whether it's because he is complimenting my son or giving me words of encouragement, he is always there to lend a helping hand. Often going unnoticed are our wonderful security guard, Jovani, and our maintenance team led by Gustavo Acevedo. They go beyond their call to duty to ensure our safety and comfort while our team is working and the congregants are praying. Their smiles and kindness are noticed by everyone. I cannot thank them enough for everything they do for us daily.

During the summer, I had the privilege of spending one fourth of it acting as the preschool director. This gave me the unique opportunity to bond with our committed administrative assistant, Gladys, and the incredible teachers. Gladys has over seventeen years of experience in working at Bet Shira. She is always there to assist teachers in need and takes on all office tasks in stride. Every morning the staff greet each other and begin the day by preparing their rooms for the children. With smiles and peeps in their steps, the teachers walk outside ready to invite all children to camp. With some music, either from a device or being played live, the teachers are dancing at carpool. Experiencing their creativity in their classrooms allowed me to gain an understanding as to why the children are eager to start their day at camp. It is the teachers daily love, dedication, and excitement that truly creates the safe, inviting environment at Bet Shira Preschool.

The strong leaders at our synagogue do not go unnoticed. Newly welcomed back to our team is Mandy Pavuk who is acting as the Jewish Learning Coordinator. Her knowledge and self-motivation, and creativity will enhance our Hebrew school program. We are excited to welcome back Yesenia Browne as our Youth Director, whose ideas will help grow our program and encourage our youth to participate in more activities on campus. It has been a year since Dorit Kadouri joined us as the Early Childhood Director. From day one I noticed that her success was possible because of her passion for the children, optimism of the program, and resilience through tough times. It continues to be an honor to work with such amazing leaders.

Lastly, Rabbi Herman. Everyday I applaud his hard-work, resourcefulness, and sincerity. It is the tough times that Rabbi and I bond over and support each other. I look forward to working alongside Rabbi as we continue to lead an awesome team and engage our Jewish community.

Thank you – to all – who have aided in my success for the last eighteen months.

Chelsea Rego,
Executive Director

Mandy Pavuk

MPAVUK@BETSHIRA.ORG

I am honored to have the opportunity to join the Bet Shira team as the Jewish Learning Coordinator. Alongside the teachers, Rabbi Herman, and Chelsea Rego, I know we will have an amazing year with our returning students and the welcoming of new students. As a Miami native and my higher education degrees in Judaic Studies and Hebrew Language, I know I can bring creativity to our curriculum.

With every new year comes its challenges and this year is no exception. I am ready, with the team, to take on the challenges in order to inspire our students in Jewish studies. Having been part of the team from 2012 to 2018 and an active Bet Shira member, I know many of the families part of the synagogue and the program. My passion for teaching extends beyond Bet Shira as I am also a full time teacher at Temple Beth Am. My goal for the new year is to not only make the students feel welcomed but to also give them the tools to become proud members of the Jewish community both locally and globally. I am looking forward to an amazing year at Bet Shira!

Shared joy is double joy; shared sorrow is half a sorrow. - Proverb

The purpose of The Caring Kehillah is to let congregants know that we are thinking of them in their difficult times and in their good times. In the past few months, we have acknowledged the loss of loved ones, people with health challenges, engagements, aufruf occasions, weddings, and births of babies and grandbabies.

We are extending much gratitude to those in our Bet Shira community who have so generously and graciously donated to the Caring Kehillah Fund. Those donations are the fuel that allows our Caring Kehillah to reach out to congregants in meaningful ways at significant times. We all have a role to double joy and halve sorrow. Thank you so much!

PROGRAMMING@BETSHIRA.ORG

Hello all! I can't believe Summer is ending and we are kicking off another great year at Bet Shira. We are looking forward to coming together for our upcoming Welcome Back Weekend from August 20 – 22. We will kick things off Friday night at 5:45 pm with Jammies and Jeans, our service for families with young children. This will be followed at 6:30 pm by an Oneg Shabbat and Board Installation outside in the courtyard featuring our Musical Director Dr. Alan Mason and Cantorial Soloist Sharon Alcalay-Leibovici. On Saturday night we've got a special treat! At 8:30 pm we will have Havdalah led by Ryan Horwitz and Rebecca and Richie Rosengarten and then a piano bar (think dueling pianos but one guy!) featuring the amazing Kevin Laurence. Please check out one of his videos on YouTube, he really is exceptional! On Sunday we will gather together for tasty food trucks, JLC orientation, ECC Meet & Greet and to showcase all the committees and arms of our synagogue. Be sure to visit our Sisterhood Gift Shop table to grab High Holiday and early Hanukkah gifts. Thank you to our programming committee for working so hard on the weekend!

Looking forward, be sure to save November 5 – 7 on your calendar for our 36th Anniversary Weekend. More details will be coming in the weeks ahead, but it will be the perfect mix of reminiscing on Bet Shira's past and looking towards our future. As always, if there are any program ideas you have, please feel free to bring them to any of the members of the programming committee. We would love to hear them! Get ready for a great year and see you at Welcome Back Weekend!!

Greetings from Bet Shira Sisterhood,

We hope your summer has been at least a bit better this year than last year, as most (all, we actually hope) of us have been vaccinated and have begun visiting with family and friends again and even going to services at Bet Shira. It is time to renew your Sisterhood membership or become a member for the first time. Membership at Bet Shira is not mandatory to be a part of Sisterhood; we welcome all Jewish women.

For those of you who have been at Bet Shira for some time, we don't have to explain how much Sisterhood does for our synagogue. We are one of the most dynamic and contributory arms of the synagogue; our mission is to support and enhance the religious, educational, and social activities of Bet Shira Congregation, which we accomplish with great enthusiasm and love. We organize events that raise funds for our Early Childhood Center (ECC), religious school (JLC) and synagogue. We also send holiday goodies to our college students, provide Shabbat kiddushim, operate a fabulous gift shop, send birthday and anniversary greetings to congregants, and, through Torah Fund, support the educational institutions that train our rabbis, cantors, and educators. We also educate, entertain, and improve ourselves with religious and cultural events, speakers, book clubs, and more! Sisterhood is a wonderful way to become involved and make new friends.

A membership form is attached below. Please open it, print it, fill it out, and mail it back with your check as soon as possible. This year we are asking you to indicate your areas of interest. If you would like to help with a committee or be part of a program, your participation is needed and welcomed! We also encourage you to take part in our Sisterhood Shabbat later in the year. We have a great variety of activities and are sure you will find many of them appealing.

Our warm wishes for a wonderful new year together, hopefully in person!

Your Sisterhood Membership Committee

Rabbi Herman: What we try to do for the mourners at Surfside

"...It is our responsibility to provide for those undergoing trauma and to ensure that each of their needs are being met, both those grieving lost friends and family and those waiting painstakingly to hear news that was not coming -- the torture of not knowing whether their loved ones were alive or dead.

At the family relocation center, I met with people who had lost everything. I had no words -- all I could do was listen to their stories and be present in the moment. Many were holding out hope, even though only one survivor had been rescued from the rubble just hours after the collapse..."

"...Without the body and burial, there is no closure, which is why many have done vigils and memorial services for all the deceased. On Thursday, there was an interfaith concert at Temple Emanu-El of Miami Beach to raise money for the victims' families as well as to lift people's spirits. The most poignant moment for me was when Elizabeth Zito sang "I am not Alone," and conductor Michael Rossi invited all the attendees to join in.

We continue to pray every day for all those affected by the tragedy of Surfside. When we undergo trauma, as our community has, may we recognize the importance of taking care of ourselves. Being present for people, listening to their stories, or offering to get them what they need, be it an energy drink or some food, is such an important mitzvah (commandment)..."

First Responders at the scene at Champlain Towers

A group of South Florida rabbis visited Israel on a solidarity mission.

South Florida Jewish leaders take solidarity missions to Israel

"...Rabbi Ben Herman of Bet Shira Congregation in Miami said, "Visiting Lod where we met with both an Arab school and a Jewish community was very eye-opening."

"They had parallel stories, but it was like they were talking past each other," Herman continued. "We saw a Jewish apartment that was burnt - could still smell the smoke and sewage and saw a bed burnt to a crisp - and I will never forget what that felt like."

TORAH FUND

WOMEN'S LEAGUE FOR CONSERVATIVE JUDAISM

It is time to think about your Torah Fund contribution for 2021-2022 campaign year! Your contribution to the Torah Fund strengthens and perpetuates conservative Judaism throughout the world. With your participation you can help support the five conservative seminaries to provide Rabbis, Cantors, educators, administrators, social workers, researchers, and councilors for our Camp Ramah. Our students rely on these scholarships and we are grateful for any amount that a person can give—all donations are acceptable and none is too small! Your donation can be spread out over the year and can also be made in honor of someone or in memory of someone else.
